Jenny A. Urban is the Director of Compliance at CLEAR (clearme.com) and is based in Washington DC. CLEAR transforms what is uniquely you – your fingerprints, your face, your eyes – into a secure, biometric key to frictionless experiences. From airports to arenas, CLEAR's platform powers secure, frictionless customer experiences in nearly 40 airports and venues. With over 2 million members so far, CLEAR is the identity platform of the future, today.

Prior to joining CLEAR, Jenny served as an associate at the international law firms of K&L Gates LLP and Cozen O'Connor in Washington DC, New York, and South Carolina. Her practice primarily focused on aviation matters, including unmanned aircraft systems (UAS)/drones. She counseled clients, including major U.S. and foreign passenger and cargo airlines, entities involved in the commercial uses of drones, trade associations, airports, aircraft equipment and UAS manufacturers, air travel distribution companies, and other aviation industry participants on compliance with laws, policies and regulations administered by the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT), the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), the Transportation Security Administration (TSA), and other agencies.

To enhance the advice she provided to clients relating to drones, Jenny passed the FAA's aeronautical knowledge test and earned a Remote Pilot – Small Unmanned Aircraft Systems license. She frequently speaks at conferences nationwide on aviation, airport, and drone matters.

An avid Ole Miss Rebels fan, Jenny earned her LL.M. in Air and Space Law, J.D., M.B.A., and B.A. in Public Policy Leadership and Political Science all from the University of Mississippi.
